

ROOSEVELT CALLS THE CONFERENCE TO TASK TO CURE ILLS

To Solve Economic Ills Rather Than Dally With Currency
Stabilization

CREATES A SENSATION

Conference Stunned by Sharpness of Criticism of France's Position

By George R. Holmes
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEOLOGICAL MUSEUM, LONDON, Eng., July 3.—President Roosevelt called the World Economic Conference sharply to task today and reminded it of its primary duty, to cure fundamental economic ills rather than dally with temporary stabilization and international exchange under pressure of France.

President Roosevelt cabled Secretary of State Hull a statement of the American currency position which created a sensation in conference circles owing to its sharpness and its scarcely disguised criticism of France's position, which from the outset has been that temporary stabilization of the dollar, pound and franc is a pre-requisite to any agreement on tariff quotas or other economic matters.

At the same time the President served emphatic notice he is unwilling to hitch the dollar to the pound or franc in any defacto understanding.

It was declared that so far as America is concerned domestic recovery is paramount to all else. It was also made plain President Roosevelt intends to push internal recovery, irrespective of the World Conference, and if France or the others don't like it, it is "just too bad."

President Roosevelt's statement in fact was an ultimatum to the conference to concern itself with the objectives for which it was called and to confine itself to subject on the agenda.

GEOLOGICAL MUSEUM, LONDON, Eng., July 3.—Stunned by President Roosevelt's flat rejection of temporary stabilization, the gold countries represented at the World Economic Conference renewed their allegiance to the gold standard today. Delegates of the gold countries decided to draft a statement reaffirming the "necessity" of prompt gold stabilization and reiterating their firm intention of maintaining the present parities of European currency. Once again the gold nations turned to Great Britain in the hope of obtaining at least moral support, but British government officials refused to disclose their projected course of action. It was learned however that Britain was hesitant to move from her position on the fence, between the United States and European gold bloc. The fact that America's latest statement came direct from President Roosevelt and the report revealed the definite position of the United States, made the British loathe to make any move which would embarrass either side.

PICKFORD-FAIRBANKS DIVORCE

Hollywood, Cal., July 3.—Mary Pickford will give Douglas Fairbanks a divorce if he desires one, but the famous screen actress will not, of her own volition, seek divorce, but if Fairbanks desires to abolish their "ideal" marriage, she will secure a decree as quietly as possible on grounds of incompatibility. This was the status today of the marital affairs of "America's sweetheart" and her dashing film star husband. Sale of their palatial $400,000 "Pickfair" estate, their "dream" will be accomplished as soon as possible. Miss Pickford will continue to make Hollywood her home and will continue her work in the pictures. Fairbanks is expected to make his future home in Europe. Love of Miss Pickford for California and motion pictures, and Fairbanks' desire to build up their friendships among nobility of Europe contributed gradually during the past three years to the rift between filmland's two most famous figures.

MORGAN FIRM STANDS ALONE

Washington, D. C., July 3.—The powerful private banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Company stands alone as America's leader in the world of finance. This was disclosed today when a study of statistics filed at the Senate Banking Inquiry dispelled the popular belief that the international banking partnership of Kuhn, Loeb & Company constituted a formidable rival of the Morgan Company. A comparison of the two firms' balance sheets revealed Morgan's firm has far superior capital, assets, business and profits. The Morgan firm far outclassed the Kuhn, Loeb Company annually for the last decade at least, the records revealed.

In the great boom year of 1929 the Morgan firm had four times the capital, fifty times the cash, five times the deposits and nearly six times the assets of the Kuhn, Loeb Company. At the close of 1932, after both firms had suffered enormous losses for three successive years, the Morgans had three times the capital; fourteen times the cash, more than twenty times the deposits and 12 times the assets of the Kuhn, Loeb Company.

TO RECOGNIZE RUSSIA

Washington, D. C., July 3.—Recognition of Soviet Russia by President Roosevelt is a virtual certainty, a source close to the President revealed today. There is a strong possibility that some form of recognition will be extended before the end of this year, the official added. Emphasis of the Soviet recognition was given last night when Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation announced his organization would finance a loan to Russia to enable it to purchase American cotton. The sum was not disclosed, but it is believed it will result in the sale of more than 50,000 bales of American cotton. The first step toward recognition, it was said, might be a defacto or temporary period of recognition during which negotiations would be carried out on the problems of repudiated debts, communist propaganda and future trade relations. If these problems were settled satisfactorily, permanent and full recognition would follow. However, should the negotiations prove unsatisfactory, President Roosevelt could break them off without having given the Soviets the satisfaction of claiming they had been recognized fully by this government.

WANTS TO OUST LYNCH FROM MORRISVILLE OFFICE

Young Charges Former Bristol
Resident Should Not Be In Council

BITTER POLITICAL FIGHT

MORRISVILLE, July 3.—Councilman Charles C. Young, of the First Ward, Morrisville, yesterday launched a move to oust A. T. Lynch, a former Bristol resident, from the presidency of Morrisville Common Council.

He issued a statement in which he charged Lynch with "double-crossing" his associates and interfering with the general welfare of the Borough by his conduct of meetings and his activities at other times.

Firm in the belief that he can muster four votes, Young minced no words in discussing the existing breach in the governing body.

Young stated that as soon as he secures the support of these members, he will introduce a resolution calling for the removal of Lynch from the presidency. Then council will proceed to elect a new chairman.

Another effort will be made early next week to settle the deadlock over the Morrisville tax rate for borough purposes. However, unless another councilman joins the ranks of those opposing more than a two-mill reduction in the total borough tax and override Mayor Stockham's veto, indications are that the deadlock will continue indefinitely. So far, no tax rate has been set for borough purposes.

THREE-RUN RALLY BEATS THE JEFFERSON A. C.

Batting Streak in the Eighth Inning Wins for All Saints

OTHER GAMES PLAYED

A three run rally in the eighth inning fell one run short yesterday afternoon as the Jefferson A. C., of the Bristol Twilight League, dropped a close 5-4 decision to the All Saints, of Burlington, on the Jersey team's field.

The Bristol club gave the winners the toughest tussle any nine from this section has given them this season. The losers outhit the Saints, eight to seven. Bud Wright, with three hits and Joe Roe, with two, led the Bristol hitters.

The Mules scored their first run in the initial start when Tulio walked, stole second and scored on Wright's hit. In the eighth they counted three times. Roe drew a pass, Tulio sent Roe to third with a sharp single to left. Britton was hit with a pitched ball. Roe scored on a passed ball. Britton and Tulio counted on Wright's double to center. Hibbs fled out and Wright died trying to steal.

The White Elephants added another win to their mounting total yesterday taking the Neshaminy A. A. into camp, 11-3. The game was played at Neshaminy.

Two Stragglers From Navy Caught Soon After Arrival

Two stragglers from the U. S. Navy wandered into Bristol Saturday night and were here but a few hours when caught at Mill street and the Highway.

The men were taken into custody by Chief Jones at about 10:30, and it is stated that the pair left the ship previous to its sailing, because they did not like the boat.

Both have been returned to the office in charge, but the boat had left for California.

The wedding was a most attractive one, and largely attended.

Film "Pick-Up" Includes An "Ideal" Screen Team

The film "Pick-Up," an adaptation of Vina Delmar's Red Book story, a B. P. Schulberg production, comes to the Grand Theatre tonight.

"Pick-Up" centers around the two, who meet under strange circumstances. Miss Sidney, freed from prison after being "framed" by her husband, who still remains behind the bars, finds herself destitute in the city. Cold and soaking wet on a rainy night, she takes refuge in a cab. Raft, the driver, is soon as deeply in love with her as she is with him. Their purchase of a garage in the suburbs sets them well on the road to prosperity. But when Raft begins paying attention to a wealthy socialite who is flattered by his charm, Sylvia rushes to a lawyer; finds she can easily secure an annulment of her marriage to her convict-husband. But the very day the papers come through, her husband appears on the scene, fresh from a jail break in which he has killed a guard, and feverish in his determination to get revenge not only on Sylvia, but on Raft.

The picture comes to a breathless climax in Sylvia's attempt to save the life of the man she loves.

The one fatality occurred in an accident on the Hulmeville Road about a half-mile from the Bristol Pike, Saturday evening. A car containing Mr. and Mrs. McCool was traveling toward Bristol when a tire blew out, making the car swerve into a concrete abutment of a road drain. Mrs. McCool was thrown from the machine and had her neck broken. Mr. McCool, the driver, suffered fractures of the limbs and bruises. The crash occurred as Benjamin Reubens, of Philadelphia, attempted to turn into a side street. His car collided with a bus operated by William G. Boyd, of 713 Clinton street, Camden. Then Bentz's machine, which was following that of Reubens, also crashed into the bus. Twenty passengers on the bus were shaken up but not injured. Corporal R. D. MONDAY, JULY 3, 1933

LEST WE FORGET

On the fourth day of every July the American people, in a more or less fervent manner, celebrate the birthday of the nation. It is a day of memories, and should be. Our fathers gave us a priceless form of government, and the long colonial striving against usurpation and tyranny helped our Jeffersons, John Adams and Lee and others to formulate the principles of pure republicanism which we boast of possessing today.

Let the eagle scream! Let oratory be broadcast over the land! Let the red rockets glare and the bursting cracker boom! We have grown on and older, until we are today 157 years old, and a glorious "Union, one and indivisible."

But are we the same? Do we believe the same things? Are we tending along the same lines that our founders of the nation started on that birthday of the nation in 1776? Let us look a moment and see.

On the Fourth of July, 1776, our forefathers signed that immortal Declaration of Independence, wherein was voiced the spirit of American democracy, that spirit which brooks no interference by tyrants or rulers and recognizes no master save only those who compose the nation.

In 1787 the new nation adopted that surprising constitution which guarantees the freedom and equality of all men, and that "government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

The America of our forefathers was an America of independence, of the fullest, freest privilege to every man, the only limitation being that one man's privilege should not overlap or interfere with the privilege of another, or of the citizenry generally. Liberty, not license, was what we wanted, and what we were guaranteed.

Are we the same Americans in spirit today that we were 157 years ago? Have we preserved to the people that liberty which the constitution said should forever be theirs? Have we mistaken license for liberty in anything? Have we surrendered the principle of all men being equal, for the sophistry that "public policy" demands the people give up their rights to a clique, or a class, or a faction, which may set itself up as a Daniel to judge what is good for us and declare what is bad for us according to the standard of self-made righteousness?

Still, we are the same American nation. We publicly hold to the same doctrines, and we have grown and thrived, until 157 years after our birth we are become the admired, not to say feared, of all nations.

It is well that we celebrate the natal day of the nation, but while we are celebrating it let us firmly resolve that if we have been led astray by false doctrines and schisms, if we are tending to that point in the orbit whereof a great historian wrote, "The history of republics is against them," let us take heed of our way and living ourselves lack to the path of democracy and the rule of the consented, so that future July Fourths shall mark the passing of this nation down the track of the years attended by a glory that is undimmed and with the confidence and support of all its people.

Echoes of the Past---

By Louise White Watson

Old Customs

A man walked into the library one day and approaching me said, "I am a perfect stranger to you but I understand you are the writer of those newspaper articles of which I am making a collection." I asked him if he had formerly lived in Fulsington. He assured me he had never lived anywhere but in the city and the revelation of the habits of village life therefore appealed to him the more strongly. Every village has its old customs and here are some that belong to us and to you.

Peddlers

Oh, long time ago, a great event in the village was the coming of the peddler. The housewife often met him at the porch and while he seated himself on the step, she pulled up a chair and watched him unloading his packs and begin opening the crowd to his treasures. Children crowded around, some boldly to the front, while perhaps another, clinging to its mother's skirts, often the traveling salesman was of foreign birth and it was then the children, baffled by it and not understanding, would exclaim, "But what does he say, Mother?" And even before she had a chance to reply, there was another exclamation, "Oh, look, Bob," etc. If a librarian is supposed to know her readers, the peddler is a prize winner in disposing of his goods. You know—pins, needles, combs, pocket-knives, marbles, shoe-strings, handkerchiefs, hair-pins, — but why mention more? He was simply carrying a store on his back and many a sale he made, not only in the village but at the different farm houses at which he stopped and where his thirst was often quenched by a glass of milk from the spring-house, where the pans were set in running water from a nearby source. The good wife in the large farm house, was often good at bartering, saying, "I haven't the price for this and that, but I can invite you to a dinner fit for the gods. It is nearly time for the men to be coming in and then dinner will be served up in a jiffy." Did you ever know a pedler or any one, in fact, refuse that invitation? Not I.

The Bell-Grinder

And then the scissor-grinder, announced by a constant ringing of a bell, save when he was stopped by some one badly in need of his services. Again the children flock to the foreground and watch that one foot on the pedal, making the wheel go round. There was no need of taking anything apart to investigate the workings, it was all in plain view. Even the dripping of water from the little cap was watched with interest. Often before the scissor-grinder had finished, one heard another ringing bell. This time the umbrella-mender. Interest was divided, but the new-comer had the novelty which by this time was waning in the case of the scissor-grinder. Youth, yes, and often adults, clamor for change.

The pack of umbrella canes is hung to the ground; the little fire is lighted in his portable stove, for soldering when necessary; pieces of black, blue or brown material are brought forth to be used as sticks, up there comes the end of cane sticks; up there comes the sewing kit, needle is threaded, often held off at arm's length, and even then one eye is half closed in the operation of putting the thread through the eye of a needle. When work is finished he would often say to those in attendance, "Go call your mother and we'll see what she thinks of the job, for if I do say it, there are few that can beat the old man at mendin'."

Clock Tinker

There are many old clocks in this neighborhood bearing today the signature of the old German from Trenton, Adolph Youncker, for he invariably wrote his name and the date on which he mended the clock somewhere on its surface, often on the back. But the Terry clocks, having their history on its surface inside the frame, often furnished space for his signature. He was quite deaf, if you recall, and often talked to himself, but he was an expert hand with clocks and fairly loved the old ones, as he would testify. He would shake his head disapprovingly, if some one, inexperienced, had tampered with an old clock. He would walk for miles on his different rounds and was always welcomed.

The Circus

You, who live within easy access of the circus, haven't an idea of the thrill the country boys and girls used to get when the circus came through. Oh, the racing and chasing, equal to that pictured by Scott, when the first toot of the horns on the gilded chariot was heard! Beautiful ladies seated high, prancing steeds, four, six, and sometimes eight, came dashing up with a swing and a swirl to the National Hotel. The buglers awakened the village who came post haste, to witness the event. The old elephant, who always looked as though he and the century mark had saluted each other in the passing, stood in quiet obedience to his keeper, while the monkeys frisked and hopped wildly demanding attention. The cages lions and other animals gave a look of disgust, often disdaining to notice the crowd that gathered, save by the blinking of one eye. But once, one did rise from the floor of cage, and gave a tremendous yawn accompanied by a shaggy hair. Did those youngsters scamper? The old hay-scales was the first hiding place obtainable and they pulled and tugged for position. Then they peeked. "What's he doin' now?" they questioned of the prize pecker. Out they came but every wary.

The animals must be watered. Buckets were unhooked from the different wagons, and that old pump at the hotel served them with some of the best water known in these sections. The boys, anxious to be part of the excitement, swelled with importance when one of the men honored them by holding out buckets with, "Here, you fellows, fill these buckets!" Did they? They worked as faithfully as the one Benjamin Franklin described as turning the grindstone and then receiving for pay, "Hire, send along to school where you belong!" But these boys were heroes of the occasion. Then out came the other men and the procession starts again on another lap of the way, followed as far as they dare go, by their youthful, admiring public. The ladies, gauzily dressed, waved as they went and young America sighed and awaited lives.

Three-Run Rally Beats The Jefferson A. C.

In both of these frames, the Elephants scored five tallies. In the second Kirk slashed out a home run with two on base.

The winning streak of the Washington A. C. was stopped at Pineville yesterday afternoon when the Bristol club was beaten by Pineville A. A., 7-2. Five runs in the third inning did the trick for the winners.

In this frame, four errors by the Washington team aided the Pineville club immensely. In all the Bristol club outlived the winners, six to four but the Pineville team played better ball in the pinches.

Rallying to score nine runs in the last two frames, Bristol Park A. A. outscored the Tacony Bloomer Girls, 15-12 in a slugfest match on the Bristol Park field.

The girls gave the Park nine a stiff contest then they expected and up until the eighth were leading, 10-5. Betty Sells started on the hill for the girls and Sheppard did the catching. Bobby Hayes relieved Sells in the sixth. Trindle and Gleason were the batterers for Crofton.

The tax bills should go out during July, but even if the deadlock is settled now these bills will be very late. Members of the finance committee refuse to budget, declaring that they have spent much time in going over and framing a budget. They claim they have done their work and if the two members supporting Mayor Stockham are to hold up the matter of setting the tax rate, then it will be up to them to get the borough out of the muddle it will be in.

Mayor Stockham and Councilmen Lynch and Baker are also determined to insist that another mill could be taken off the tax rate. The mayor insists that even though the finance committee claims it reduced the appropriation for general borough purposes 25 per cent, these members must also remember that more than $20,000 in notes were paid off last year and this year there is no such indebtedness which must be met.

Connelton Lynch, in discussing the deadlock, said the finance committee included a $2,500 item for drainage in the Third Ward which could wait until times improve. He said the same condition existed for many years but no attempt was made to make this improvement. He also said the committee included a $1,000 note which it intended to pay.

COOL DESERT ISLAND FASHIONS COME WITH SAIL-CLOTH JACKETS

By Alice Langelier
(L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS (INS)—String and sail-cloth, heavy crash linens and natty knot effects of rope are bringing regular desert island styles in for women this Summer makes startlingly cool peek-a-boo blouses, vests and little hats and caps in the natural shade. Sandals of woven string, string bathing dresses and dyed string bracelets and other ornaments also continue the desert island note.

Grosse toile, nothing short of very heavy sail-cloth, goes to make some charming little morning jackets for summer wear. One has the jacket plain and collarless with a simple fastening at the belt. The back is pleated and held flat at the waistline.

In town it is worn with a black silk jersey dress, almost a slip, so simple in line. In the country, it becomes an accessory to a cool sports dress of heavy linen with a black bonnet topping it off.

Chic Madame Paul Dubonnet is wearing red and white striped linen beach dress that is very "desert island." The stripes are gathered into twists in the front following the lines of the figure for the small bodice which is but a couple of shoulder-straps at the back and for the wide skirt. The bodice part is separate.

Declaration of Independence

IN CONGRESS JULY 4, 1776

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION OF THE THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

WHEN, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.—We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.—That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.—That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.—Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.—He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.—He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.—He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.—He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.—He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.—He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected;—whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the meantime exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without and convulsions within.—He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.—He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws, for establishing Judiciary powers.—He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.—He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.—He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies without the Consent of our legislatures.—He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to Civil power.—He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our Laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation:—For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:—For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States:—For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world:—For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent:—For depriving us in many cases of the benefits of Trial by Jury:—For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offences:—For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighboring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies:—For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Governments:—For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.—He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.—He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the Lives of our people.—He is at this time transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to compleat the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty & perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous age, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation.—He has constrained our fellow-citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.—He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us and has endeavored to bring on the Inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare, is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions. In every stage of these Oppressions we have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people. Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War; in Peace, Friends.—

We, therefore, the Representatives of the united States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be, FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do.—And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.
